

David G. Rosenberg

In 1986, David Rosenberg established The Unifund Group as one of the first companies to purchase underperforming and distressed consumer receivables. Over the past 20 years, The Unifund Group has developed proprietary tools and invested heavily in technology which allows it to evaluate, purchase and liquidate diverse portfolios of obligations from a broad variety of originating institutions and resellers.

The companies which comprise The Unifund Group work under various forms of joint venture, participation and management agreements to maximize portfolio recoveries from both wholly-owned portfolios and portfolios owned by other institutions.

Mr. Rosenberg has written many published articles regarding consumer debt, and he is the author of a manual issued by the American Collectors Association (ACA) entitled How to Buy Bad Debt. He is a frequent speaker at industry trade shows on the subject of buying and selling distressed consumer receivables.
